Order/Line Command: The two methods leaders have of getting their troops to move and fight. Individual Orders (IO) apply to individual units, Line Commands (LC) to entire lines of units. In terms of whether a leader can issue an Individual Order or a Line Command, they are treated separately. For the sake of brevity, the word "orders" will mean either a Line Command or Individual Orders.