nor especially adept at, Shock Combat on the same level as "Heavy" cavalry, so they have received a different designation and a separate line on the Shock Superiority Chart, although they are treated as HC on the Clash of Spears and Swords Chart. The Romans never quite understood how to use cavalry and, although they often had large numbers, they were rarely as effective as one would expect.