HISTORICAL NOTE: Individual scenario adjustments to this rule reflect tactical theory in different periods. For example, at Beneventum, the Triarii cannot use a two-space Line because of the tactical theory that they were a Phalanx-like last line of defense. By Bagradas Plains, the Romans had seen what elephants could do to such a line and adjusted wisely (if not well).