The arrows of the day could rarely pierce metal armor but were effective elsewhere. Cheap to arm; expensive to train. Used as skirmishers.