We have tried to use appropriate Latin military terms, as applicable. Six years of hacking one's way through Caesar's Commentaries finally came to some use. Memory, however, is a great villain. I think we got most of the "endings" right; then again, if it came from the fifth declension, we probably "bluu" it.