HISTORICAL NOTE: Roman battles took somewhat longer to complete than those of just 150 or so years previously. Participants had developed a wide variety of tactical systems to counter those of their enemy. In addition, armor and protection were lighter and more efficient, enabling soldiers to fight longer. The result of all this was that casualties rose precipitously, and battles lasted a great deal longer.