4.23 A leader may give an IO to move himself, which counts against the number of orders that leader may issue in that Orders Phase. A leader may instead issue an Individual Order to a unit with which he is stacked and move along with it. The leader must remain with the moving combat unit and end up in the same hex.