HISTORICAL DIGRESSION: It seems that to work for Carthage you either had to be Hannibal's brother or be named Hasdrubal or Hanno. The number of "different" commanders with these last two names is frightening. From a design point of view, trying to figure out which one was where is even worse. Then there are the "Car Boys": Hamilcar and Bomilcar. For sanity's sake, we have grouped all the Hannos and Hasdrubals into one of each. Their ratings were pretty much the same anyway.