6.32 A unit may be moved in any direction or combination of directions. However, a unit may only enter a hex which is to its Front (7.11). For a single-hex unit to change direction, it must first change facing (7.1) by pivoting in the hex it occupies.