Stacking refers to having more than one unit in a hex at any one time, whether during movement or at the completion of movement. There are two principles involved when considering stacking: voluntary movement, which usually means combat units moving under orders or Orderly Withdrawal; and mandatory movement, virtually all of which is rout movement. The Basic rule is: one combat unit per hex. The main exception involves Roman Legion/Ala infantry. In addition, Skirmisher units, trained in avoidance and dispersal tactics, have certain advantages over other units in this area, specifically in terms of moving into/through other units. For the Romans, the stacking rules make express use of the distinct color borders all Roman infantry units have.
