6.61 The Basic, non-Roman Stacking Rule: Only one combat unit (or one half of a Phalanx unit) may occupy a hex at the end of any form of movement—voluntary or involuntary. Leaders (including leader elephants) and informational markers do not count for stacking purposes. A hex may contain any number of leaders/markers. There are two exceptions to this basic rule: Roman Manipular flexibility reflected in the stacking charts (6.63, 6.69) and Double-depth Phalanxes (9.51).
