A. Position Superiority: The attacking unit generally has Position Superiority if its attack is through a defending unit's Flank or Rear hex. However, whichever unit the attacking player uses to determine position superiority must also be the one used to determine the Shock column on the Clash of Swords chart per 8.45.